

Inspection Criteria

Brackets used for headlight repairs should be supplied individually and covered to hide the marks from repairs.

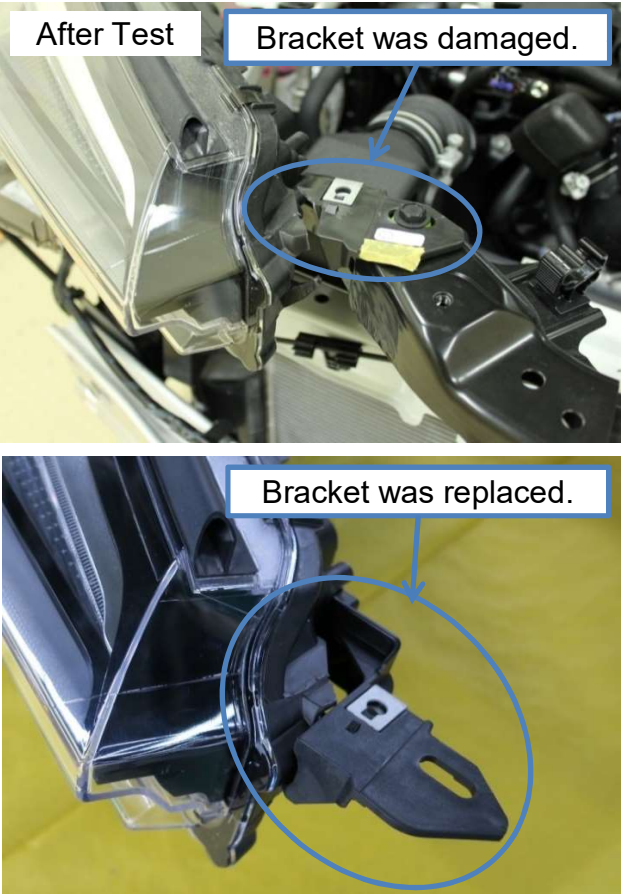

Reason

When brackets used for headlight repairs are supplied individually, it is not necessary to replace the headlight assembly or unit when the bracket is damaged, which reduces the repair cost. Also, if the bracket is covered, the marks from repairs are hidden, which promotes replacement of the bracket.

Example where brackets used for headlight repairs can be supplied individually and are covered.

Good Example

Poor Example

